About The Index

This index is the result of a joint project between the Lompoc Museum and the Lompoc Valley Historical Society. While the Lompoc Legacy Quarterly Bulletins published by the LVHS had previously been indexed separately by volume, it had been several years since an attempt was made to merge these indexes into a single all-inclusive index. Evelyn Brandon of the LVHS created the original yearly indexes for Volumes 1-77. Myra Manfrina (LVHS) merged the indexes for Volumes 1-50 and later, 51-60 into two larger indexes. Volumes 61-77 remained individually indexed while Volumes 78-82 had not yet been indexed. Discrepancies between different versions of the indexes were reconciled by going back to the Lompoc Legacy volumes. Evelyn Brandon's original volume by volume index was utilized where possible as the most complete source of index citations. The current index is a synthesis of these previous indexes. Additionally, citations from Volumes 78-85 indexed by the author (LAR) were also included (Volumes 83-85 were released while this project was underway). An update of the index through the year 2008 utilized an index for Volumes 86-100 compiled by Carolyn Huyck Strobel. The author would like to thank Lompoc High School students (and daughters) Cara and Bria Carucci who entered the updated citations from the Strobel index for Volumes 86-100.

Using The Index

A few of the conventions used in this index require explanation. Each index entry is followed by "V" and "p" numbers. These numbers refer to the Lompoc Legacy Volume and page where a citation can be found. Only proper names were recorded in the indexes for Volumes 1-50. Citations for subsequent volumes include proper names and place names as well as other nouns in common usage (e.g., horses, crops, etc.). While we hope to go back and add the place names and other citations for Volumes 1-50, such an effort was beyond our resources at present. The reader may also notice that for some individuals there appears to be more than one entry. In some cases, only a slight difference in spelling (e.g., Lawrence vs. Laurence) or the presence/absence of initials or a middle name (e.g., A. G. vs. Arthur George) may differentiate two entries. The names in the index appear exactly as they do in the Lompoc Legacy. Rather than trying to decide whether two similar names refer to the same person, the decision was made to leave the names as they appear in the text. Although this means duplicate names for some entries, no information is lost as would be the case if two names were incorrectly merged. When researching a woman in the index, the reader should look under both her maiden name and any married name(s). Such names are not fully cross-referenced. Finally, a note about local businesses and organizations: these groups are listed together under "Lompoc" to facilitate the reader interested in locating references to local groups. In addition, local businesses are also listed under their family surname. For example, "Baalam and Son" is listed under "B" and "Lompoc" while "Lompoc High School" appears only under "Lompoc". Please bring any errors discovered while using this index to the author's attention so that corrections may be made for future editions.
